Touch Project - Github Repository

Signup in github.com by providing username and password

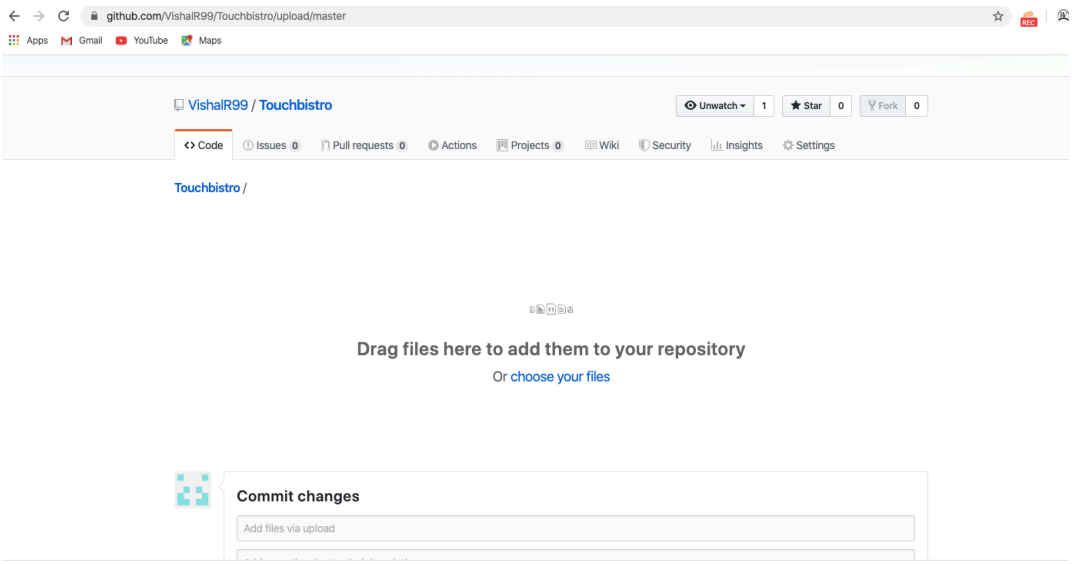
Select create new Repository

Select public to access from everywhere

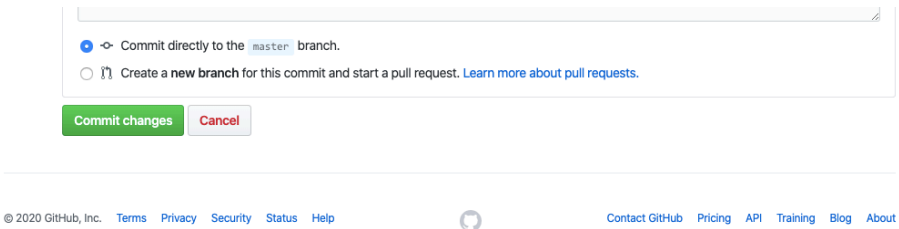
Type the name of the repository

And create

You will find the README.md file in which you can type any msg or codes if you have codes ready then you can directly upload from computer.



You can upload the ready codes and then there is a button commit changes you click on it and repository will be updated with new uploaded files.



Touch Project - Github Repository